What you know better than I do

5 min

Main question: "What do you know better than I do? I could genuinely use the advice."

Short answer?: Ask about something specific that they genuinely know more about than you do.

Sharing more?: Take the advice seriously and then actually use it. That matters more than the conversation itself.

Skills practised:

"Asking for advice reverses the roles, and a child feels it straight away. At this age the relationship has to become more equal, and a question like this takes a step that way in deeds rather than words."
