What in this day was real?

Main question: «If you choose the moment that was the MOST real today - yours, not for show - what would it be?»

If one word: «And what was real about it? What set it apart?»

If they open up: «Do you notice such moments often? Or rarely?»

What we practised:

«The word "real" works more powerfully on a teenager than "best" or "nice." A teenager at this age keenly feels the difference between "genuine" and "for show." When we notice the "real" together with them - we're saying: I see your real world.»
